Literacy	Please continue to read daily for 20 minutes and talk about, write about or draw about you reading. With the weather getting nicer, reading outside is always fun too! Writing activity suggestions: Take the time today to email Mr. Watson and Mrs. Cook about what you've been up to over Spring Break. We'd love to hear from you. Take it a step further and email a friend from class. Use your school email address. Remember to respond to any emails you get. Keeping in touch with friends is so important. Writing Prompt: You are the notorious missing sock from the	Personal Research Project Day 1 This will be a project that will last for the duration of the week. You pick the topic (animal, game, country, space, toys etc.), the questions you want answered, how to research it and how to display/present your knowledge. It can be about anything that interests you. Use this website: https://teachingwithoutfrills.com And go to Informational Writing for Kids. There are 8 Episodes to watch. Follow the directions step by step to help organize your research. Please email me your chosen topic and questions you'd like	Personal Research Project Day 2 Reflect on your research: What are some other questions that you have come up with? Did you try to organize your ideas into categories? Are you surprised by anything you've learned so far? Continue following the Episodes online to help guide you. Science: use the following website to compare the daily highs and lows for the month of March 2020: https://www.theweathernetwork.com/ca/monthly/manitoba/winnipeg?year=2020&month=3&dispt=calendar-container-monthly Talk with somebody about any trends you see or anything that stands out to	Personal Research Project Day 3 Celebrating your research: How are you going to share what you've learned? Video, Power Point, book, poster, presentation at home etc. I can't wait to see the final results. If you aren't finished by today, don't worry. It's all guidelines and no exact due date at this point. Also, feel free to start another research project if you get finished early. Science: using the same website from yesterday try to graph the daily highs and lows. Use the following graph as an example:

	dryer. Write from the socks perspective. Where are you? Why do you get lost all the time? How are you feeling? Scared, happy, mischievous, sad? Tell us about your adventure.	answered so I can help you find resources online and/or answer any questions. Have fun!!!	you. When was our longest cold/warm stretch? What day was the coldest/warmest?	https://www.weather.gov/images/bro/wxevents/2012/annual/brownsvilletempline.png On the side axis put the temperature in Celsius and on the bottom put the 31 days of March. Round off numbers and look at what the lowest temperature was. Remember to have that be the lowest number you start from and go up from there. On the days with no data, leave them out. Graph the high and low in two different colours. Give your graph a title that explains what we are tracking...hint March 2020 daily highs and lows
Numeracy	Roll to 1000 You and a partner will take turns rolling 3 dice. Add two of the numbers, and multiply by the third. Ex. I rolled a 2, a 3 and a 6. I add the 2 and 3, to	Hundred Dollar Word Challenge! The letters of the alphabet are given a dollar cost corresponding to their numerical place in the alphabet (A-1$, B-2$, ..., Z-26$)	Neighbourhood Estimation Before taking a 10 – 20 minute walk, estimate the following: How many houses will you pass?	Which One Doesn't Belong?

	get 5, and multiply by 6 to get 30. Every turn, add your result to your Total score. The first person to reach 1000 points exactly is the winner.	How many words can you make that cost exactly 100$? Bonus: What is the most expensive word you can make? How much is your name? Looking at a map, what is the most expensive city or country? Email your teachers your answers!	How many trees will you see? How many birds will you see? How many cars will you see in driveways? On the road? Record your estimates, and then keep track and see how close you were.	 Given the above numbers, try a Which One Doesn't Belong. Work with a sibling or parent (explain how it works) and come up with as many reasons per number that they don't belong. Once you and your partner have come up with as many ways as possible, email your teachers some of your favourite reasons, or ones you think we didn't think of.
