

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How can I help my child if I don't speak French?

Most parents of immersion students do not speak French. Here are some ways you can help your child when you don't know the language:

- Support and encourage your child's learning.
- Use your home language to develop your child's intellect through conversation about varied topics.
- Encourage reading in any language and read with your child in your home language.
- Communicate with the school about your child's progress.
- Show an interest in French and explore French events, films and books.

How will my child develop and maintain strong English skills in French immersion?

At least 25 per cent of the time (and more in later years) will be spent working on English skills. Moreover, studying in a second language will actually end up strengthening your child's English language skills, as well.

Isn't immersion just for gifted children? What about if my child struggles?

Research and experience show that immersion students with a variety of challenges will do as well academically as they would in an English language program. Children learn at different rates and in different ways, regardless of their program.

Grades 5–8

Students receive instruction in French for most of the school day (60–75 per cent). They also have extracurricular events and cultural excursions to support their learning.

Grades 9–12

Students receive instruction in French for 50–75 per cent of the school day, depending on course availability and individual choices. French cultural and extracurricular activities are offered to support language skill development. At least 14 of 30 high school credits must be taken in French to obtain a French immersion diploma.
